

FULL VOTE EXPECTED IN SATURDAY'S POLL FOR POOL DELEGATES

Delegates Chosen at Saturday's Election To Meet in Largest Tobacco Cities on Monday to Select District Directors.

A full vote is expected by officials of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Cooperative Association at the election of district delegates to be held Saturday in the sixty-nine counties of the burley tobacco district in Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, West Virginia and Tennessee. The delegates will be elected by ballot and the election will be held between the hours of 8 a. m. and 4 p. m.

Delegates elected Saturday will meet Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock in that county of each of the twenty-two districts into which the Burley territory is divided, which delivered the largest amount of tobacco of the 1921 crop, and will proceed to the election of a director for each district. The results of these elections will be certified to the president and secretary of the association and the directors elected Monday will assume their duties in October at the next regular meeting of the board.

Seventy additional contracts were received at the offices of the field service division from Trousdale county, Tenn., which soon will be signed up 75 per cent. Assistant Chief William Collins said. Work also is being pushed with vigor in Tennessee and the West Virginia forces have redoubled its efforts for signatures. A big meeting at Bowen, Wayne county, W. Va., Friday night was addressed by Manager Harry B. Carpenter, of that territory; Director of Warehouses Ralph M. Barker and J. Sherman Porter, editor of the Burley Tobacco Grower. A number of contracts were signed following the speaking.

Director Barker, Vice President Bush W. Allen and Mr. Porter returned from Ohio and West Virginia Saturday and said the situation there was very favorable.

JUVENILE JUDGE SOUNDS WARNING TO UNRULY YOUTHS

Judge Purnell Has Busy Week and Announces That He Is Getting Tired of So Many Complaints.

Five girls ranging in age from twelve to fifteen were in Juvenile Court Saturday morning charged with having whipped a sickly little boy near the Eastland school house several days ago.

In the course of the hearing before Judge Purnell, it developed that some of the girls did slap and whip the little fellow but it also developed that the boy had been throwing stones and cinders at the girls and the whole party was in some measure to blame for the trouble. The court gave the larger girls good advice and shamed them for having struck the little boy. Judge Purnell let drop, in the course of his talk, some timely warning to unruly boys and girls throughout the entire county, when he said that he was getting tired of the many complaints against disorderly children and that he expected to begin the assessment of fines in cases which the parents will have to pay. Judge Purnell has had a juvenile case every day for four days this week.

TURKS TURN TO CONSTANTINOPLE AFTER SMYRNA

Massacre at Smyrna Worst in History of the World—Harbor Filled With Victims of Turk. Ish Horror

London, Sept. 16. — British reinforcements were landed at Constantinople today, while Turkish cavalry approached within a few miles of the city.

Four British cruisers and eight destroyers conveyed the troops to the ancient Turkish capital, which Mustafa Kemal, leader of the nationalist forces, threatens to seize from the allies.

Two regiments and an airplane squadron of five machines comprised the reinforcements.

Detachments of allied marines attempting to land at Smyrna yesterday, were prevented from so doing by Kemal troops massed on the dock, according to advices received here today.

Following this, the dispatches said, the Greek battleship Kiklos opened a bombardment on the Turkish quarter of the city, which had been spared by the fire which swept the other districts. Great damage was reported done by the warship's shells.

Fresh details of the massacre in Smyrna came to light today as thousands of refugees arrived here. In one instance, they said, the Turks were prevented from slaughtering one group of victims only by the display of a United States flag.

George Horton, American consul general, who arrived here, is in a state verging on nervous collapse, due to the horrors which he witnessed, including the murder of his own chauffeur.

STATE HIGHWAY BILL IS HELD INVALID

Judge Sam Hurst Bases Decision on Point That Legislature Is Without Authority to Name Officers.

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 16. — The Simmons road bill, passed by the last session of the general assembly creating a state highway commission to be composed of Gen. William L. Selbert, Leslie B. Samuels, M. L. Conley and Ben Weille, was declared unconstitutional Friday by Special Judge Sam Hurst, who is holding the Franklin circuit court in the absence of Judge R. L. Stout.

The decision of Judge Hurst was based on an opinion of the court of appeals in the case of Pratt against Breckinridge, in which the appellate court held that the legislature is without authority to appoint officers other than those necessary in the transaction of its own business.

The fact that the bill was not signed by Lieut. Gov. Thurston Bellard and was received by the Governor as an "unofficial legislative document," did not enter into Judge Hurst's conclusions as to the unconstitutionality of the measure, his decision being based solely upon the opinion of the court of appeals.

NIGHT SCHOOL IS BEING PLANNED FOR THE CITY MISSION

Classes To Be Taught at Mission Home During Winter For the Training of City Factory Workers.

Arrangements are being made by the Board of Managers of the Maysville City Mission to conduct at the Mission Home in West Second street during the approaching fall and winter, a Night School to which everyone in the city who desires to improve their education, will be invited without cost.

There are many boys and girls, men and women, working in local factories to help make a living for their families who have not had the opportunity of even a common school education and it is the purpose of the Mission Directors to furnish an opportunity for obtaining at least a common school education through these night classes. Competent instructors will be procured, some of whom will be instructors in the public schools.

All persons having discarded school books used in any grade from the first to sixth are requested to look them up and bring them to the City Mission rooms for the use of these pupils.

Other plans for an intensive winter's work are being laid out by the women who direct the activities of this institution. Miss Prather, the new superintendent, is getting started in her work well and is taking a great interest. Those behind the City Mission are expecting this winter's work to be the greatest work this institution has ever done for the poorer classes of Maysville and its suburbs.

THOUSANDS OUT OF WORK WHEN FORD PLANTS CLOSE

Henry Ford Makes Good His Threat of Several Weeks Ago to Close His Plants Because of Coal Shortage.

Detroit, Sept. 15. — Henry Ford late today took steps to close his Detroit automobile plants, beginning tonight, thereby throwing upwards of 100,000 workers in the Detroit district out of employment for an indefinite period. He asked officials of the Detroit Street Railway to re-arrange its schedules to care for the night forces at his various factories, who will be dismissed at 11 o'clock, it was announced.

Announcement of the intended closing came from officials of the street railway company. No official statement from Mr. Ford or his executives was forthcoming late today, it having been stated this morning at the Ford offices that the manufacturer's announcement several weeks ago that he would close September 16 "would stand" unless he altered his plans.

The railway company, it was announced, was requested to concentrate its cars at the Highland Park and other Ford plants at 11 o'clock tonight to carry the shifts finishing work at that hour, as well as those reporting for work to their homes. The day shifts will be dismissed at the end of the working day tomorrow, the street railway company was informed.

Simultaneously it was announced a number of smaller manufacturing concerns here that supply the Ford plants with parts and accessories will close. These companies employ upwards of 30,000 men. The Ford workers to be thrown out of employment total approximately 70,000.

Mr. Ford announced several weeks ago that he would close his Detroit plants September 16 because of the coal situation.

FIVE MILLION DOLLAR FIRE ON DOCKS AT NEW ORLEANS

River Front of New Orleans Swept by Destructive Fire Which Destroyed Thousands of Dollars of Property.

New Orleans, Sept. 16. — Five blocks of wharves and warehouses along the Mississippi River front are in ruins, following a fire which did damage estimated in excess of $5,000,000. The wharves and warehouses were erected by the Federal government in 1918 and 1919 at a cost of more than $5,000,000, army officers said. In addition about 40 box cars loaded with merchandise were destroyed.

The German freight steamer, Alsa Hugo Stuehn, moored to the wharf, caught fire but succeeded in putting out into the river before serious damage was done. Second Officer Schall and Machinist Kunzler of the vessel leaped overboard, according to sailors, and Schall suffered a broken leg. Both were removed to hospitals as was the chief engineer of the U. S. towboat Sampson, who was struck by a stream from a fire hose and knocked unconscious. Three Government launches moored to the wharf were destroyed. The fire started in a box car loaded with burlap bagging. Twenty-two cars of burlap were burned.

Firemen said their work was hampered by spectators who crowded up to within a few yards of the burning warehouses and who blocked traffic for many blocks with automobiles. Not until the fire had been in progress almost two hours were the spectators pushed back.

AMERICAN VOTERS NOT "BLIND"

A writer in the Philadelphia Ledger says that the Republicans now in office came in as a result of a "blind striking out and there is every possibility that they will go out as the result of another."

Such a statement of political history is far from the fact and not at all complimentary to the intelligence of the American people. Neither is it very complimentary to our system of popular government. The people do not act blindly—if they did, popular government would be an absolute failure. Our system has its faults—none of them very serious—but among its faults is not to be enumerated blindness in voting.

The people of the United States never acted with greater deliberation and manifestation of reason than they did in 1918 and 1920 when they placed the Republicans in power. In 1918 the record of the Wilson administration was discussed at length, and near the close of the campaign President Wilson issued an open address to the people of the country asking for the return of a Democratic Congress as an endorsement of his policies. He based his plea on the need of united support of the administration in foreign affairs—the strongest plea a president could have made. After reading that plea and giving it due consideration, the people went to the polls and elected a Republican majority to Congress.

In 1920 the issues were clear-cut, there was an extended discussion, and the people acted with deliberation, not hysterically. The league of nations was the principal issue, and Mr. Cox announced that he was at one with Mr. Wilson on that subject. The issue had been discussed for nearly two years and the whole country was familiar with it. While other issues, particularly the wastefulness and arrogant bureaucracy of the Wilson administration, had some influence, the real basis of popular action was the league. The people voted by a 7,000,000 plurality against the exponents of the league and in favor of the "America First" candidate. The Congressional elections that year had the same significance.

Probably the immense majority received by the Republicans gave the writer for the Ledger the impression that it was a "blind striking out," but there is absolutely nothing in the history of the campaign to indicate that the action of the people was taken with unseeing eyes. On the contrary, the people knew exactly what they were doing and why they were doing it. They wanted this government to follow the admonitions of George Washington against European entanglements.

It is very evident that the people are not entirely satisfied with all their present representatives in the Senate and House, but there is nothing new in that. From the foundation of our government, the people have been retiring Senators and Congressmen whose records they did not approve and have been electing other men whose policies they prefer. But they have not been doing it blindly. Perhaps in some instances they acted upon incomplete information, as in the "kept-us-out-of-war" campaign of 1916, or, as in 1912, the will of the majority may have been frustrated by a division in party ranks. But, even then, the people voted deliberately upon the best information they had and cast their ballots in a manner that expressed their convictions.

INFORM THE PEOPLE ON THE NEW TRAFFIC LAW.

City Council, at its last meeting, adopted an entire new set of traffic regulations and the street department is now busily engaged in painting the streets thus designating the parking spaces as provided by the new law.

We have not as yet seen a copy of the new law and we suppose that, aside from the members of Council and the business men's committee which framed the bill, there has no one learned its provisions. We venture that there is not a single member of the Police department who has familiarized himself with the law.

Automobile drivers who are supposed to obey the law's mandates and pedestrians who are supposed to know its provisions for self-protection are entitled to know something about it.

Under the charter of Third Class cities, it is not required that the ordinances be published before they become operative but the charter provides that they "may" be published. It may not be necessary to publish this new traffic ordinance in its entirety but we believe that the public is entitled to the information and we believe that the salient points should be published and should be published before the court acts under it.

THE RIGHT TO WORK

Senator Robinson refers scornfully to Attorney General Daugherty as "the heroic champion of the open shop." It is a reference that will not harm Mr. Daugherty at all. Every Federal official who has taken an oath to uphold the Constitution is also a champion of the open shop. So is every other man with a correct sense of fair play. Because Mr. Gompers chooses to call the drive for the open shop a campaign for a non-union shop does not make it so. Open shop advocates only urge the right of every man to work provided he can make terms with his prospective employer. They do not recognize the right of a union or any other organization or individual to tell him he shall not work. It makes no difference to the open shop advocate whether an applicant for work is a member of a union or not, all have the same right and all are entitled to equal treatment under our Constitution and laws. The champions of the open shop are not making so much noise as Mr. Gompers and his lieutenants, but they form the great majority of our citizens and their views are going to prevail in the end.

PLEADING GUILTY

Laws are made to punish criminals, not innocent people. If you are law-abiding, what difference does it make to you how great the penalty be made for theft, assault, arson or murder. It is true today as of yore, that "no thief ere felt the halter drawn with good opinion of the law." Those who protest against an injunction against violence are pleading guilty in advance.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington.—The chances are even that the Republican tariff bill now before the conference committee, will have been agreed upon by that committee by September 20th. The chances are better that the bill will receive the signature of President Harding some time between October first and fifth. The efforts of the anti-protection press and of importers' propaganda to create a deadlock in the conference, or to give the impression that the bill will die in conference have been, and will be utterly futile. The report that the Republicans are afraid to pass the bill on the eve of the Congressional elections because they think it will lose the House to the Democrats is false.

As a matter of fact the bill is proceeding to its conclusion in conference faster than anticipated by the most sanguine of the conferees. It was though at one time that the American valuation plan which originated in the House would prove to be a bone of contention between the Senate and House conferees which would delay the bill for some time. That has been put over for later consideration and every indication is that a satisfactory adjustment will be reached when it is finally taken up. The same may be said of a number of other contested amendments. Senator Smoot is authority for the statement that the tariff bill would be a law by October first. Chairman McCumber is even more optimistic, and Representative Fordney expresses the belief that the bill will be completed so far as Congress is concerned, by September 20th. These conferees know what they are talking about, for they are handling the measure. The newspapers and the gossip-mongers who oppose the bill, do not know what they are talking about and such statements as they may make other than those expressly authorized by the conferees are not to be relied upon and entitled to no credence.

Ever since the tariff debate opened in the Senate predictions have been rife on the part of opponents of the bill that it would never become a law. The wish was father to the thought. The campaign against the bill was permitted to get under full steam by the prolonged filibuster of the Democrats, who exhausted days on unimportant schedules. As Chairman McCumber said, when the chemical schedule was up, "we have wasted 18 hours on four cents worth of formic acid." Sensing the fact that the Democratic filibuster was staged for the purpose of giving time to the importers' combination to mobilize their forces to defeat the bill, the Republicans seized the opportunity to make a counter-attack by showing up the greed of the importers, and the report of this engagement is compressed into a most historic tariff document entitled "Imported Merchandise and Retail Prices," 67th Congress 2d Session. This showed by actual figures, officially recorded, the profits of importers on the landed price of foreign goods ranging from 157 to 2370 per cent. Photographs of the articles were given, and the slices slips accompanying the purchase of these articles. It was the worst knock-out the free traders have received in the history of our tariffs.

The Republican tariff-framers having put their hands to the plow have displayed no intention of turning back. They will enact a measure which carries the lowest average ad valorem rate on all imports that has ever characterized a Republican law, and which, when depreciated foreign currencies are considered, spells protection with a mighty small "p". Following the enactment of this bill will come the usual pack of falsehoods and traducing of the framers. But if this country is still for protection, and there is every indication that it is, the voters will stand by the Republicans and the tariff law they have passed in the face of the most thoroughly organized opposition Congress has ever known.

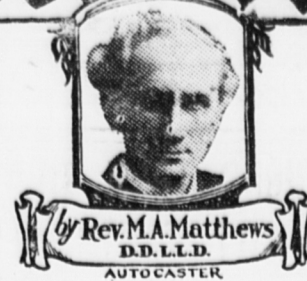

DRAINS RECLAIM FIELD FOR MUEHLBERG FARMER.

Lexington, Ky. — A tile drainage system installed at a cost of $32.02 an acre has enabled W. G. Duncan, who operates a farm near Greenville, Muhlenberg county, to convert one of the poorest pieces of his land into the most productive, according to a report which he has just made on a demonstration conducted in cooperation with the extension division of the College of Agriculture.

Before being drained the ten-acre field had a number of seepage spots and was so wet that many parts of it could not be cultivated in the spring. A portion of it was drained naturally but despite this fact, the major part of the field was extremely wet during most of the season because of the dense clay subsoil. Previous to drainage, the field had never produced a crop yield that was large enough to pay for the cost of cultivation.

Now that the field is properly drained, Mr. Duncan says that it is one of the best ones on the farm. A heavy crop of soybeans produced on it during the summer is considered good evidence that the drainage system accomplished its work. The value of the system was further demonstrated during the early summer when no water was left standing on the field after a four-inch rain. The tile were installed at an average depth of three feet in laterals that were placed approximately 80 feet apart. The cost of $32.02 an

LAW ENFORCEMENT

It is often said that law enforcement depends upon public opinion. There was never a more fallacious statement made. It is a smoke screen which often hides cowardly, inefficient, or corrupt public officials. That doctrine has done more to break down respect for law and to prevent the enforcement of law than any other statement ever made.

Law is sovereign. There is no such thing as never was such a thing as the divine right of kings. But there is such a thing and there will be forever such a thing as the divine, sovereign right of law. Law is sovereign. And laws ought to conform to the sovereign right of eternal LAW.

No criminal believes in law. No criminal believes in the penalty that law inflicts. No criminal believes in justice. No criminal wants justice. Therefore, when it is said that public opinion controls the enforcement of law, THEN, it is said that public opinion is the opinion of criminals, and that public opinion is a criminal opinion.

I deny such a statement. If it is true, that in itself does not excuse the public official nor give him the license to neglect to enforce the law.

Whether the man be a plumber or preacher, whether he be a banker or butcher, whether he be the head of a labor organization or the president of a capitalistic trust, if he violates the law, defies this government, flaunts his infamy in the face of the Constitution he ought to be put in the penitentiary and fed on bread and water until he confesses his wrong, pays his penalty to society and is willing to kiss the flag every day the rest of his life.

Law is supreme and should be enforced.

Poem by UNCLE JOHN

Most every disease that begins to show, by the howl of pain or the tale of woe—be it nutmeg liver, or pest-house itch, or weepin' janders—I don't keer which,—We can jugulate 'em, beyond a doubt, by simply clippin' the tonsils out!

You melby have heard of Melindy Crane, who was borned with softenin' of her brain. . . . So, when she developed the craze fer verse, we jedged a relapse would fetch the hearse. . . . but she whooped with joy, an' hollered fer kraut—the minnit they jerked her tonsils out!

And of course—you knowed old Sandy Beggs, which had the paralysis in his legs,—an' when the old feller commenced to bloot, we seen right off, it was all his throat! And, just afore she run into gout, they cured him, by whackin' his tonsils out!

The feller that's skeered of a dearth of days, can dodge it—by joinin' the tonsil craze. . . . He can set down, an' let 'em rim out his neck,—an' get up again—like new, by heck!

Yr. own Uncle John.

also included the cost of the tile, the freight charges, and the labor of digging the trenches and laying the tile.

Many farmers are expected to drain their wet fields during the coming year as a result of similar demonstrations which are being conducted in all sections of the state. Farmers who are contemplating the installation of a drainage system are being urged to lay out their proposed lines and order the necessary tile at once so as to have them on hand when the best season for laying them arrives. The trenches are best dug during the winter and early spring when the ground is soft and labor plentiful.

If the area to be drained is more than seven or eight acres, or if the grade of the tile lines is less than three feet in every 100 feet, the drainage survey and the depth of the trenches at every 50-foot station should be determined from levels taken by an engineer, according to Earl G. Welch, farm engineering specialist of the college.

New York Letter

by Lucy Jeanne Price

New York — A certain Englishman in New York made a simple little gesture of friendliness to the people back home and in consequence his apartment in West 56th street has been turned into a detective agency, foundlings' home and general utility station. He corresponds with a newspaper in Liverpool, and he wrote a note one day to the effect that he would be glad to be of service to his fellow countrymen over here if he could. "There may be some in Liverpool who would like to be put in touch with friends in New York", he wrote and gave his name and address. A deluge of queries followed; never before had he realized the number of lost relatives there are roaming the world. And in a city of six million, it isn't proving simple to carry out his offer. He did find, however, that one son whose parents had not heard from him in several years, is living in Rochester, has a good job and owns an automobile. That was sufficient to make the parents happy the rest of their lives. "At first it seemed impossible to go on with the thing I had got myself into," he says, "but the letters are too pathetic and too hopeful to let me stop. It doesn't leave me much time for my work, but maybe it's helping somebody."

Wider and wider grows the field from which the motion picture is drawing its writers. It has now invaded the domain of the editorial writer and taken one of the biggest of them all. There is undoubtedly no better known editorial writer in the country than Bruce Barton, who has agreed to write a series of motion picture scenarios for immediate production, for the Eclair Day Pictures Corporation. The first one of the series is completed and has just been filmed. Mr. Barton will carry into his photoplays, the same inspirational, richly humorous note which is so well known in his editorials.

The volunteer stage censorship plan for the New York stage has begun functioning in so far as the committee has just held its first meeting. It is said to be purely a coincidence that the meeting was set for the date which marked the opening of Avery Hopwood's "Why Men Leave Home." It was his play, "The Demi-Virgin," which started all the ruction last season between the producer and Commissioner of Licenses Gilchrist.

Ernest Aimless is a constant theater goer. They hold the curtain for him on opening nights. People ask him just for the fun of having him along. Yet it would happen that he would get the prize opportunity for attending the shows. Not long ago he answered a blind ad in one of the papers asking for "a young man of good appearance, who was interested in the theater." His letter secured an appointment and he found an exceedingly comely young woman with red hair, who told him she wished reviews written of all the current attractions. He willingly accepted, and was on the point of asking the amount of pay, when she announced as a mere after thought, "You know one of the conditions of this work is that you attend the theater with me. Don't be alarmed. It does not carry any social obligation. You meet me at the theater and bid me good night from there." She did not divulge the use she expected to make of the reviews, yet this fortunate youth is nightly at the theaters with this stunning girl, without so much as having to buy a taxi cab, and getting paid besides. The worst of it is that he seems to take it for granted that he deserves what he is getting. I shall never see a young man spending $6.00 on his best girl for two seats again, without bemoaning the unfairness of life.

Clothes for men this coming season are evidently responding to the cry of the restless one in the political arena who insisted that the speaker talk "louder and funnier." No words other than exactly those would do justice to the new men's styles. I could say after seeing the exposition being held here. Red, purple and genta neckwear; Scotch tweeds in patterns that could be discerned through a London fog; sport stockings in which the rainbow runs rival the checkerboard; plaid shirts in other shades; these are only a few of the details which thrust themselves into our eyes. Oh, there is no doubt what the male peacock is coming back into his own!

St. Louis Woman Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

St. Louis, Mo. — "I was bothered with cramps and pains every month and had to go to bed as I could not work. My mother and my whole family always took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for such troubles and they induced me to try it and it has helped me very much. I don't have cramps any more, and I can do my housework all through the month. I recommend your Vegetable Compound to my friends for female troubles." — Mrs. DELLA SCHOLZ, 1412 Salisbury Street, St. Louis, Mo.

Just think for a moment. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been in use for nearly fifty years. It is prepared from medicinal plants, by the utmost pharmaceutical skill, and superior methods. The ingredients thus combined in the Compound correct the conditions which cause such annoying symptoms as had been troubling Mrs. Scholz. The Vegetable Compound exercises a restorative influence of the most desirable character, correcting the trouble in a gentle but efficient manner. This is noted, by the disappearance, one after another, of the disagreeable symptoms.

OHIO IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION MEETS AT LOUISVILLE

Official Call for the Twenty-eighth Annual Convention of the Ohio Valley Improvement Association is made for October 3 and 4.

The official call for the twenty-eighth annual convention of the Ohio Valley Improvement Association has been broadcasted throughout the Ohio Valley from Pittsburgh to Cairo. The convention this year will be held in Louisville, Kentucky, on October 3rd and 4th, with headquarters at the Hotel Watterson. All friends of the improvement of the Ohio River are urged to be present and participate in the proceedings.

The Ohio River has entered into its new period of usefulness and the claims of the advocates of its canalization are being fully verified. In the last three years new watercraft to the value of more than $30,000,000 has been built for use upon the river. Great fleets are plying its channels and its full development is only limited by the dams remaining uncompleted and the lack of terminal facilities at the cities upon its banks.

Rail water terminals will be the outstanding feature of the convention. Plans will be presented and the entire subject will be discussed by experts. Other speakers of national character will be present to address the convention. Any city on the Ohio River that has not, or is not, preparing to have facilities for the transfer of freight from water to rail is overlooking the most obvious factor for increased prosperity.

Mayors of municipalities, Chambers of Commerce and other interested bodies have been urged to appoint delegates to this convention which will mark one of the most important epochs in the history of the Valley.

Business men of the Valley are urged to show by their attendance that they want the Ohio River Improvement completed in order that the millions already spent by the Government may begin to make returns in the stimulation of commerce and industry of the Ohio Valley for the benefit of the whole nation.

CARLYN WAGNER IN NEW THRILLER.

The dashing little actress whose strenuous and spectacular work in dramas of the great West brought out the remark that "the only thing daring about most actresses is the clothes they wear will be seen at the Pastime Monday in the big spectacular Western drama, "Outlawed" from the powerful pen of Alvin J. Neitz. Carlyn Wagner has long been known and beloved by a large following of theater-lovers, but not until she began to appear in the hard-riding picturesque roles of thrilling Western pictures did she suddenly wake up one morning, after the premier of a big special Western feature, to find herself the talk of the film world.

To be the only girl in a large company of players, the majority of whom are noted for their daredevilry and their love of furnishing thrills for sensational pictures, is not the task to be accepted by the timid; and while there seems to be no good reason why youth, beauty and nerve should not be found combined in one shapely body, Carlyn Wagner's work upon the screen as the central figure of a hundred or more cowboys caused a sensation which surprised nobody more than it did Miss Wagner. Now that a new production is completed in which this clever little star is announced once more as appearing in a cow-boy's saddle, it is sure to be looked forward to with unusual interest. Pastime Monday.

PROGRAM AT PASTIME THEATER NEXT WEEK.

Monday, Bill Patton in "The Outlaw," a drama of the western plains.
Tuesday, Shirley Mason in "Lights of the Desert." A picture for particular people.

Wednesday, Millard Wilson in "The Stranger," western.

Thursday, Tom Mix in "Sky High" a western feature.

Friday, Harry Meyers in "Robinson Crusoe," "International News" and George Walsh in the last episode of "Stanley in Africa."

Saturday, "Hour of Doom," "Easy to Cop," and "Horse Tears."

MANY WATERMELONS ON MARKET THIS WEEK.

The watermelon season is nearing the end and during the past week there has been quite a rush of melons on the local market. The Charleston Bottoms melons have given out and most of the melons now on the market are from Wilson bottoms or from the Black Oak bottoms in Lewis county.

COTTON DUMP AFIRE.

The cotton dump on the south side of the L. & N. railroad, just east of the round house, caught fire Saturday morning at about 10 o'clock and the fire department was called to extinguish the blaze. No damage was done but because of the nature of the fire there was considerable smoke. Cotton lint and combings from Maysville Cotton Mills is dumped here. How the fire was started is unknown but it is thought to have caught from sparks from a passing train.

Geo. H. Frank Co.,
Maysville, Ky.,
Gentlemen:

Your investment in good-will is not inside your store. You can't lay your finger on it. Your good-will is distributed in the offices, factories, and homes around town.

What men think about your store is either your greatest liability or your most valuable asset.

The bargain store's reputation is not to be envied. Men come there to get the bargain advertised—they come only when a bargain is advertised, and they come with suspicion marking every step.

The store with a reputation for merchandise of genuine quality, honest value, sincere service, and wide-awake methods attracts the kind of trade that builds volume and increases profits. Such customers are loyal, steady, and dependable. They are boosters. They buy with faith and confidence.

Remember that the frame of mind in which a man leaves your store is just as important as the impulse which brings him to you. You know instantly whether you will ever see that customer again.

If the suit he carries away has the quality that will satisfy, he'll return, he'll remain a regular customer. If the suit does not satisfy, the fact that he paid a low price will make no difference. That customer is lost to you for all time.

Very truly yours,
B. KUPPENHEIMER & COMPANY.
